

QUEEN'S AWARD Adam Jacklin accepts an invitation from UK chief scout Peter Duncan to attend Windsor Castle for the presentation by the Queen. (NA)

Scout scoops Queen's award

‘ I have taken part in many adventurous expeditions and have been fortunate enough to learn the survival and first aid skills needed for mountain climbs ’

A HORNCASTLE scout is to be honoured in a ceremony at Windsor Castle by the Queen on Sunday.

Explorer scout leader Adam Jacklin of Horncastle will receive an award for outstanding personal achievement during the annual St George's Day National Queen's Scouts event.

The St George's Day event will see 500 Scouts from across the UK and the commonwealth being awarded the highest honour in Scouting - the Queen's Scout Award.

Adam said: "Gaining my Queen's Scout award was tremendous challenge. Part of scouting has always been about doing work for your community.

"I have taken part in many adventurous expeditions and have been fortunate enough to learn the survival and first aid skills needed for mountain climbs."
