

Lincolnshire free press

www.spaldingtoday.co.uk

Tuesday, May 27, 2008 35p

EDITORIAL 01775 725021/FAX 714744 ADS 01775 725021/725484. FAX 01775 765444

Learning about tractors: Back (from left) – Amy Meader, Edward Meader, Jack Roffe, Alex Leverage, George Tyrrell, Oliver Murfet and Jamie Bossley; front – Chloe Quelch and Ruby Gedney. Photo: 130508g89

Oliver Murfet gets in the driving seat watched by Paul Heanes.

Photo: 130508g92

Farm safety lesson for village beavers

WHAPLODE youngsters have been learning about farm safety with the help of a Holbeach St Johns company.

Service technician Paul Heanes, of J W Doubleday, showed village beavers how a tractor works and talked about aspects of farm safety.

Deputy district commissioner Sally Sneath said: "It is important for children to know about farm safety as we live in a rural area."

The group is proving popular after reforming in October.

It is now hoped to set up a scout group in the autumn and Sally wants to hear from anyone who wants to get involved.

Call her on 01775 640368.

Committee members, including a treasurer and chairman, are needed for the beaver group.

Whaplode Beavers has ten members and is open to boys and girls aged six to eight.

They meet on Tuesdays (6pm-7pm) at the village hall.

■ To join the beavers call Wendy or Sam Heanes on 01406 540307 or just turn up on the night.